

Veer bench

Park bench Veer – with its functional clarity, its design permeable to light and air, is suitable as a sensitive addition to architecture or to provide a pleasant contrast in a natural setting.

The user-friendly design offers several diverse and comfortable positions for the person resting on the bench. A distinct feature of the park bench Veer is the horizontal surface at the end of its backrest. It is positioned at just the right height to support your arm while holding a phone, a book, or a coffee cup. Furthermore, rounded tubular forms have been used in the design of Veer, which amplifies the familiarity of the living room sofa and adds homely comfort to public spaces. Veer brings life to every public space, creating dynamic and lively places.
